https://Vote4Florida.com For a Better District 71 NATIONAL DEBT BY PRESIDENT

An argument often cited by an extreme portion of the Republican Party during "news" conferences, is a call to attention something like" Oh look how much "Bidenomics" are adding to the national debt ... he's ruining our economy. We need Trump back in office". This is a blatantly false presentation of facts. Below is a list that anyone interested in reliable, verifiable data, can find that list the national debt contribution by each president dating back to Roosevelt.

At a glance, Trump was one of the top contributors to the national debt, and guess what, he did that in only 4 years!

Biden, and his so-called "Bidenomics" did way better than Trump as is clearly seen here. Electing another Democrat makes way more sense by every economic consideration.

Foolish policies like Trump's enormous tax break to the ultra-wealthy, were a major contributor to his poor economic performance. That's how you would take a company to bankruptcy.
